DECISION RESOURCES GROUP, INC. Burlington, MA

Mar. '13 – Mar. '15

Director, CRM (and increasingly MAT; some KM)

Position survived four changes in executive suite and top leadership. Role dissolved after its objectives were met.

Developed the CRM (Customer Relationship Management) and MAT (Marketing Automation Technology) vision for the business and manage the global CRM team serving all holding company's business units and subsidiaries.

- Implemented and managed the centralized data footprint of all (11+) business units to empower the organization with a single-view of vital business information via a single web-based CRM platform.
- Directed 6 resources, 28 indirect reports; managed total and operational budget of $6M.
- Consolidated technology and strategy across 10 brands and 11 segregated global businesses.
- Provided a single stack and single platform across all divergent and disparate entities, with EU exception only inasmuch as regulatory constraints would prohibit such.

NEOLANE, INC. Newton, MA

Dec. '10 – Feb. '13

Customer Success Manager & Email Deliverability Expert, The Americas

By 2013, Neolane was on the path to selling all five business units to Adobe.

Customer Relationship Management overseeing all customers in the Americas with a focus on customer success, end-user experience, and adoption rates. Held authority and authenticity as former Neolane customer (Sophos) and prior manager of Neolane platform implementation. Further served 60+ customers agnostically as a consultant across their entire technology platform. This value-add grew to be formalized into my position.

- Managed 16 indirect resources with budgetary oversight for vendor, sales, and client retention expenditures.
- Grew to full lifecycle management: from pre-sales to strategic consulting, acting as client advocate.
- Assigned R&D and other people resources to key clients and major accounts within shrewd allocations.
- Provided email deliverability expertise across governance, technology and best practices for optimal results.
- Agnostically served as customer success advocate to internally educate Neolane business units of clientele strategic and operational needs. Ensured customer issues were addressed in a timely and effective fashion.

SOPHOS, INC. Burlington, MA

Apr. '10 – Nov. '10

Marketing Automation Manager

Team of three people, with dotted line to eight rotating project resources (pulled from a resource pool of 24).

Managed the phased roll-out of marketing automation platform Neolane into the global and the regional marketing organizations with direct integration into Pivotal CRM and other enterprise systems. Mid-stream, shifted to integrating Salesforce seamlessly into Neolane with minimal impact. Managed the strategic vision and scoped new system enhancements for external vendors as well as internal development teams to implement.

- Bolted KM strategy and MAT strategy onto CRM foundational plan, including robust CPQ tool.
- Shared proven best practices from prior successes at CRA with content creators at Sophos. In order to maximize MAT program effectiveness, developed action plans for applying these practices.
- Assessed future project needs and designed data-related process flows.
- Collaborated with regional marketing teams to identify opportunities to develop lead nurturing programs.
- Provided assistance to regional marketing teams to execute local field programs using corporate content.
- Documented existing processes and implement improvements to enhance marketing productivity.
- Outlined workflow processes to increase the efficiency of the marketing organization (data governance, email preferences, self-service reporting, program statistical workflows, etc.)
